SEAY TALKS TO THE JURORS IN HIS CASE Greeks Begin War on Turkish Nationalists

HOSTILITIES OPEN ON LAND AND SEA; FLEET ASSEMBLED IN TURKISH WATERS

King Constantine Will Place Himself at Head of His Troops

SEVERAL TRANSPORTS SUNK BY SHELL FIRE

Shipping in Harbor of Batum Damaged by Raiding Flotilla

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 13.—Contrary to all public indications, Great Britain will not go to war against the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor.

Austen Chamberlain, spokesman for the government, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that Great Britain will maintain strict neutrality in the war between Greece and the Turkish nationalists.

The British government still hopes to bring about peace between Greece and the Turks and will strive to accomplish this, Mr. Chamberlain added.

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 13.—Greece is opening hostilities against the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor by land and sea. Already the Greek fleet has been concentrated at full war strength in Turkish waters and has bombarded Turkish positions and sunk several small transports, according to information from Constantinople today.

King Constantine, who left Athens on Saturday night, has arrived at Smyrna and will immediately place himself at the head of the Greek army for a new offensive against the Turks.

A Greek cruiser bombarded Turkish nationalist batteries near Triboli. The Turkish guns replied and an artillery duel developed. The town was set on fire.

Two steamships that have been transporting munitions for the Turks were shelled by the Greeks and sunk. A Greek flotilla entered the harbor of Batum and sunk several vessels.

RUSSELLVILLE IS PRAISED BY TWINS

Members of the Albany-Decatur team, who returned here Sunday from Russellville, were loud in their praise of the treatment the fans of that city gave them during their three-day stay.

Russellville people took the entire Twin team to Chattanooga one night and on another occasion took them for a tour of inspection through the mines of the Russellville district. Before leaving, fans called on the Twins and asked if there was anything else they might do to make their visit enjoyable.

"This is real sportsmanship," said one member of the Twin clan. "The Russellville team played us every minute on the field and the Russellville fans were with them, but they did it in a gentlemanly way and off the field there was nothing too good for us. The Russellville fans certainly are making a fine impression abroad for their city."

Toll Charge on Canal Amended

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Senate committee on inter-oceanic canals voted today to recommend favorably to the senate the Borah bill, providing that "no tolls shall be levied upon vessels passing through the Panama canal engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States."

Biggest Drive on Blackhand is Underway

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 13.—The greatest blackhand roundup the police have ever undertaken in this city was underway today as a result of the murder of five-year-old Giuseppe Varotta, whose body was found in the Hudson after the parents had failed to pay $2,500 ransom.
Ten men are already under arrest and the police said they expected to make other arrests during the day. The criminal who killed little Giuseppe because his parents were too poor to pay the ransom are believed by the police to be Sicilians.

CAPITAL CAN HAVE SUNDAY BLUE LAW IF IT SO DESIRES

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 13.—If Montgomery wants blue laws it can have them and the only thing necessary to get them is for a majority of the voters of the city to express themselves. This answer was made by the city commission Saturday to an appeal for better Sunday observance made by a delegation headed by Rev. Bob Jones, revivalist. The call of the committee was made following the expression of the sentiment of men and women attending the Bob Jones meeting at the tabernacle. In a special meeting for women five thousand and women said they believed pictures should not be operated on Sunday, and in a special meeting for men more than five thousand men approved the closing of the shows.

Montgomery has had Sunday picture shows so long the memory of man hardly runneth to the contrary. The city commission has absolute power to permit or refuse to permit them. The city commission act provides that the city shall have exclusive jurisdiction over amusements in the city. Mayor W. A. Gunter, Jr., told the committee the city commissioners were servants of the people and were willing to do whatever the people wanted.

There is no provision in the city government law for a referendum but if the committee furnishes a list of petitions which will be fairly representative of the citizens, it is probable the city commission will submit the issue to the people with the gentlemen's agreement that the voice of the people shall be the voice of the commission.

BURK WILL BUILD FILLING STATION

J. J. Burk will begin work at once on a drive-in filling station for automobiles on his lot, corner First and Moulton street, according to an announcement made today.

"The new filling station will be the most modern of its kind," stated Mr. Burk today. "It will be equipped with the latest facilities and devices and will surpass anything in this section of the state."

Pastor Presented Auto by Church

Rev. W. P. Wilks, pastor of the Central Baptist church, today wore a smile that would not rub off.

COLUMBIA MULES, WITH REAL 'KICK', OPEN SERIES HERE MONDAY VS. TWINS

Russell Wins His Third Straight Victory Over the Ore Diggers

PATCHED LINE UP IS PRESENTED BY TWINS
Mules Added Much Strength Since Their First Appearance

The Twins returned yesterday from Russellville to meet the fast travelling Columbia Mules in a three-game series here, beginning Monday. The locals lost the Russellville series there to the Ore Diggers, but copped Saturday's game 5 to 4. Russell, on the mound for the Twins, was touched for 13 safeties, but kept them well scattered and aided by a sensational catch by Lewis in the ninth of a Texas leaguer off Cochran's bat, won his third straight victory over the Miners.

The Twins again presented a patched line up, Bachelor, new twirler, taking short in the absence of Craddock, Eaks returning to first which was played by Russell the first two games there.

Eaks led the onslaught on Cooper, getting three of the seven safeties registered by the Twins during the fray.

The second appearance of Columbia here this year finds the Mules on longer a doormat for the other clubs of the league. The Mules have added considerable strength to their team and now are giving all comers a warm fight. Two 1-0 games featured their play last week with Sheffield. The Triplets won one of the low score contests and the Mules the other.

THREE ADDRESSES DELIVERED SUNDAY BY PATTERSON IN BATTLE ON LIQUOR

Former Governor of Tennessee Speaks for Anti-Saloon League Here

LARGE CROWDS HERE DISTINGUISHED VISITOR
Continuation of the Fight Against Liquor Traffic Urged by Speaker

Ex-Governor Malcolm R. Patterson, national spokesman of the Anti-Saloon League, made three eloquent addresses in the Twin cities yesterday, and attended one informal reception given in his honor by the Twin Cities W. C. T. U. at the central Baptist church.

Governor Patterson's first address was at the 11 o'clock service of the Central Methodist church; his second, "Looking Forward", was delivered at the Central Baptist church at 3 o'clock and his final appearance was at the Willoughby Presbyterian church Sunday night. All the public utterances of the distinguished speaker were directed against the liquor traffic and in support of the Anti-Saloon league, which organization he called "the federated churches in action against the liquor traffic."

In passing he condemned Ambassador George Harvey's Pilgrimage speech as an outrage and as a gross slander against the American people and our altruistic reasons for entering the war. Governor Patterson said he was at the unveiling of a statue in Annapolis, of the first American Naval officer to die in the great war and that the inscription said that the officer died for "liberty and democracy."

In forceful eloquence the former governor said that for that officer and thousands of dead sailors and soldiers he repudiated the vile selfish words of Harvey.

George K. Chesterton, English writer who had said in effect that America was behind England, was given a warm time by the speaker, and it was pointed out with what poor grace, an Englishman, whose country was so much at war, and where 1,300 infants were murdered by drunken mothers in the year 1913, criticized a country that "had broken the chains of alcohol, and that saved the world from defeat at the hands of its enemies in the great war."

"The chastity of the young womanhood of America was upheld, and it was declared to be a mistake to lay so much stress on how the girls choose to dress."

Dr. F. T. Tyler pastor of the Willoughby Presbyterian church, had charge of the meeting last night when Governor Patterson spoke at his church. The attendance was good as it had been at all three services.

Dr. W. P. Wilks, presided at the Central Baptist church meeting yesterday afternoon, which immediately followed the reception tendered Governor Patterson in the church parlor.

Dr. C. C. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church and Rev. W. P. McGlawn of Decatur led in prayer. Dr. L. F. Goodwin, took charge of the meeting when Mr. Patterson finished his speech. A collection was taken for the Anti-Saloon League at this meeting, as was also the case at the other two. Miss Burleson led the musical program, which opened with the hymn "Help somebody today."

A number of the old boyhood friends of Governor Patterson's father and their descendants shook hands with him at the close in memory of the time when he lived with his parents at Somerville.

The speaker was announced by Mr. Smith, a state director of the Anti-Saloon league, as due to speak in Athens today, and in Hartselle, Tuesday night.

Body of Soldier Hero is Laid to Rest With Legionnaires as Honor Escort

The body of Gerald O. Wright, soldier hero, who died in France while serving with the American Expeditionary Forces, was laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery Sunday afternoon, while members of the American Legion acted as an escort of honor and hundreds of citizens paid their last respect to the soldier.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wright, 1204 Fourth avenue S., Rev. J. W. Carl conducting the services.

sdale, Charles L. Boyer, J. H. Norwood and P. Kyle, the first three representing the army and the latter three the navy.

A firing squad and bugler from Troop A, the Hartselle cavalry, under command of Lieutenant Stone, participated in the services at the grave. Private Wright's death was an unusually pathetic one. While serving with Company E under command Brown in Champagne, Private Wright was gassed on July 15, 1918. He was sent back to a hospital and recovered. On discharge from the hospital, he contracted influenza and was returned there for treatment, but died a short time later.

Romance Not Lacking as Fifty New Missionaries Go Into Foreign Fields

Dr. W. P. Wilks, pastor of Central Baptist church and Alabama member of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board has returned from the annual meeting of this board. He reports a most interesting and profitable meeting.

Fifty new missionaries were presented to the board at this meeting for service in Africa, Argentina, Brazil, China, Chile, Japan, and Europe. They will sail for their various fields for service in Africa, Argentina, Brazil, China, Chile, Japan, and Europe. The examinations conducted by the board it was discovered that all but seven of the applicants were converted before they reached the age of fourteen, while a large number felt definitely called to mission work from childhood. Another interesting feature was that by far the larger number had been forced by circumstances to make their own way through college and seminary or training school. The same indomitable will which enabled them to overcome obstacles in their preparation will prove a valuable asset in the difficulties they are to face as missionaries.

Romances are not wanting in the story of these new missionaries. Two couples had married just before going to Richmond for their appointment. It was understood that five other couples are to be married before sailing; while Miss Lydia Belle Brown

Private Hayes was an ordained minister of the Church of Christ but at the time of his enlistment was an employee of the Tennessee Valley bank, having charge of the Gurley branch of the institution.

President Hendrix, head of the banking chain, left today for Athens to attend the funeral services.

Morgan's Schools Are Ranking High

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 13.—Jefferson, Mobile and Montgomery counties lead the state in the number of high schools whose graduates are this year accredited for entrance to the colleges of the state, according to announcement of the division of secondary education today. Jefferson is first with a total of twelve, while Mobile and Montgomery are tied for second place with seven each.

Russell is the only county in Alabama which has no high school whose graduates are accredited for entrance to the colleges. Calhoun and Chambers counties each have five accredited high schools, while Barbour, Pickens and Tallapoosa have four each. Thirteen counties have three accredited high schools, thirty-one have two and fourteen have only one each. Dallas county has two, while Etowah has the same number. Morgan county has three.

CALLAHAN READS MEDICAL TREATISE ON INSANITY INTO RECORD OF COURT

Defendant Tells the Jurors They Require "a Dictionary for That"

MOTHER OF MURDERED GIRL BACK ON STAND
Crowd About Courthouse Somewhat Smaller Than Were Last Week

(International News Service)
FLORENCE, ALA., June 13.—Mrs. A. A. Williams, mother of Mrs. Myrtle Williams Seay, again took the witness stand this morning in the trial against F. W. Seay, charged with the murder of her daughter May 15, near this city.

Court opened promptly at 9 o'clock. Attorney W. W. Callahan, for the defense, read a number of pages from a medical treatise on insanity into the court record.

Seay displayed a disposition to talk to all near enough to listen to him when brought into court this morning and when the medical treatise was being read said to the jury: "The jury will need a dictionary for that."

Mrs. Williams was then called to the stand. She testified that she and Seay's mother were preparing to take him on a visit to his father in Hot Springs, Ark., on the evening of the murder. Objections by the prosecution that this visit was really to take him (Seay) to the hospital were sustained by Judge Almon.

Saturday night and Sunday passed quietly in this city and the huge crowd that gathered at the beginning of the trial has thinned out, although the courthouse is still crowded.

Excerpts from the medical treatise, read by Callahan, attempted to show that he was affected with dementia precox and that this form of mental disease is practically incurable, only about 8 per cent recovering from it.

Using this as a basis, the defense will attempt to show, it was brought out by the morning session, that Seay killed his wife when seized by an irresistible impulse.

Although the accused men was talkative this morning he appeared nervous and smoked cigarettes and cigars constantly. The case is still causing some excitement, though this has lessened during the last few days.

The defense is expected to finish its side of the case this afternoon. The state will then begin its rebuttal and the case will probably go to the jury sometime Tuesday.

SIMS' DISAVOWAL "SAVES HIS SKIN"

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—The reply of Rear Admiral Sims to Secretary of the Navy Denby, constituting virtually a complete disavowal of the statements attributed to him in his London speech, has made it practically certain that no severe punishment will be meted out to him when he reports in person to the Secretary of the Navy it was said in high naval quarters today.

Admiral Sims cabled that he has been misquoted, that the text of his reported speech was "garbled," misleading and wrong.

So far as the speeches themselves are concerned, this practically closes the case, it was said today. There was no disposition manifested to question the veracity of the Admiral. Admiral Sims, will, however, be called upon to explain why he delayed four days in offering the explanation which Secretary Denby had requested without delay.

Two Bodies Found by Side of Road

(International News Service)
RINGGOLD, GA., June 13.—With his head almost severed by a razor, the body of Otto Smitherman, was found early today about three miles south of Ringgold. Nearby the body of Earl Williams was found hanging from the limb of a tree. A corner's jury found that Williams slew Smitherman and then hung himself. Williams was said to have been jealous of the attention paid a young woman of the vicinity by Smitherman. Both men were about 20 years old.

UNCLE SAM AS A COAL DEALER

Press dispatches from Washington last week carried the interesting information that Uncle Sam soon may become a coal dealer. Secretary of the Interior Fall was quoted as warning the coal operators that "the government owns more coal lands than all of you. Sooner or later you may find yourself in competition with the government in the matter of prices."

The dispatches add a significant paragraph, declaring that immediately the statement was made, operators were on their feet professing to their desire to aid the government in any manner to reduce the price of fuel to the consumers.

During the course of his more or less turbulent career, our Uncle Sam has engaged in many strange ventures, but never has he been a coal dealer. It would be interesting to watch him as one. Government business ventures sometimes prove expensive to the treasury, but inasmuch as nearly all of us use coal and pay taxes, the cost per capita might not be heavy. But would it work?

The question of government competition with private business has been the source of much discussion in America, particularly since the ending of the war and the birth of many new and untried theories.

The average citizen feels confident that the price of coal is entirely too high, but on the other hand the average citizen does not know what it costs to bring the fuel from the earth to his cellar. To ascertain these facts, it would seem, is the first duty of the government and apparently that is the course congress has chosen for the conference with Secretary Fall was held following objections to proposed legislation requiring operators to furnish the government with figures covering the production and costs. In most sections of the country, coal is a vital necessity. It is absolutely indispensable. For that reason any step of the government toward obtaining a reduction in its cost would be welcomed by the general public. However the operators are not without their rights. If the government bucked the coal operators today, the government might be bucking some other private interest tomorrow, so on without end. It is a delicate question, but one without so very important, there is little hope for a solution soon. If Secretary Fall can find a way to bring relief to the consumer and at the same time avoid establishing a precedent which may cause trouble later, he will have rendered a service which will make permanent his place in history.

THE LEGION HOME

During the course of the past few months the public has been asked, from time to time, to support various public entertainments given for the benefit of the Morgan County Post, American Legion's home building fund.

The Daily is glad, indeed, to find the Legion working "on its own" for its home. No donations have been asked, no drive has been conducted, the members of the organization have simply requested the people to buy what the Legion has to offer and value has been given for money so spent.

It is understood that the fund is growing gradually and that the Legionnaires hope to announce their home building plans before another year has passed. It is a pleasure to anticipate the good such a community center, as a Legion home would present, could do for the Twin Cities and their neighboring sections. While the details of the Legion's plans have not been announced, it is hoped and believed that the home will be a worthy monument to the ideals for which these young men donned the uniform of their country in the dark days of 1917-18. It is a movement which should have general support.

WHAT DO WE EXPECT FROM THE HOME NEWSPAPER?

What do we expect from the home newspaper? First off, some one will say, the local news, of course. Others will say, news, stories, fashions, cooking recipes, review of current events, county, state, nation and world. Sunday school lesson, church and society news. All this is expected by readers. And they are getting this every week.

What does a business man expect? Without realizing it, perhaps, he expects rather a big investment in equipment. He expects to come to the office and order a few 6x9 bills or a few thousand 24x36. He wants them when he wants them. The same thing is true if he wants a few business cards, some letter paper, envelopes or statements. He has a right to expect that his work will be done right, proper type used, proper stock used, and the best of press work. All right. This is perfectly clear, isn't it?

Now, the printer, desiring to be in a position to "deliver printing when wanted" must have the equipment. No longer can he deliver printing that looks like it was printed on a cider press with apple butter used for ink. No sir—ee! This means investment—investment means money. For instance, a business card to be properly printed calls for two or three series of job type. The same is true in letter head and envelope printing. Invitations, announcements, legal blank printing, receipts, checks, call for more type. And all call for good presses, which in the hands of a good printer means good work, the kind delivered by the News. A good-sized investment, say $8,000, is some money for tools, with which to work, isn't it?

Now for the printer to produce printing with such expensive tools, he must have a system of applied costs. These costs get us to the place where we find that unless we charge our overhead expenses to the goods we sell, we will be a loser.

The same applies to an inch of advertising. Newspaper ads call for more type equipment of a different kind from that used in the better kinds of job printing. It calls for a machine to set the reading matter, an expensive, experienced operator. This adds to the cost of producing a good newspaper, like the News. Now the word "cost" must be applied to the newspaper. Subscription income and advertising income must pay the interest on the investment. Any fool publisher who tries to sell advertising and his paper for less than it costs to produce it should ask for a guardian, for if he doesn't his creditors will see that the sheriff soon has the keys to his office.—Ashley (Ind.) News.

ROADS FOR FARMERS OR TOURISTS?

Alabamians should be greatly interested in the struggle now under way at Washington over the policy to be adopted by the government toward highway improvement.

Two measures are before congress. One of these is known as the Townsend bill and it proposes the establishment of a number of government-owned and controlled boulevards through the country. The second is the Dowell bill which provides for the construction of interstate and inter-county roads.

The Townsend measure would be of great benefit to the long-distance tourists, but, inasmuch as it would not cover the territory outside the main highways, it would be of small value to the greater part of the country's population. Also, it is doubtful if southern states, under the present administration, would fare well under this measure.

On the other hand, the Dowell bill, contemplating the construction of roads to connect various counties and smaller cities would furnish better means for the farmers to take butter, eggs and products of the farm to markets. In fighting for the Dowell bill, the American Farm Bureau Federation point to the fact that farm dwellers are just as much interested in good roads as are city folks, as they own and operate fifty per cent of all automobiles and trucks, the total of which now exceed 9,000,000. It also is argued that only a small percentage of city dwellers take long tours. Therefore, the Dowell bill is much to be preferred to the Townsend bill.—Gadsden Journal.

A YEAR OF ARSON

Have we become a nation of incendiaries? The fire record for 1920 seems to justify the query. For many years the nation's fire losses have been large, compared with those of other lands, but the record for 1920 is so uniquely enormous as to suggest wholesale arson.

According to the figures of the National Board of Fire Underwriters the losses in 1920 were $500,000,000. This is nearly $5 per capita and is 85 per cent more than in the preceding year and 121 per cent more than the average for the preceding ten years. It is nearly 72 per cent more than the figures for any former year, save only 1906, the year of the San Francisco earthquake.

The report of 18,000 "suspicious" fires supports the committee's suggestion that bad business conditions have prompted practice of the adage that "it is easier to burn out than to sell out." Conceding that the ordinary causes of fires—flimsy construction, carelessness and the like—were more active last year than ever before, there still remain losses of $200,000,000, or 40 per cent of the whole, to be accounted for. To say that so great an increase came from natural and innocent causes would be to overtax credulity. There is occasion for the underwriters' committee on incendiary and arson to get busy. If the law cannot make incendiary dangerous, the underwriters should devise ways of making it unprofitable.—New York Tribune.

THE BOLL WEEVIL

The boll weevil has invaded South Carolina at last, and the papers and other leaders are telling the farmers to beware of the danger at hand and prepare as best they can to cope with it. We note that some of the more forehanded planters of South Carolina are plowing up fields of cotton and planting them to other crops. The Columbia State says that within another year or two the weevil will have infested every county in the Palmetto State.

And South Carolina is receiving the evil visitor in much the same manner that he has been received by other cotton states. Some of the farmers have foreseen the danger, and prepared themselves. Others, the doubting Thomasas, have held back, laughing at the fears of their neighbors or hoping to have better luck when their time comes. The State says:

It is curious that so many of our people neglect to profit by the experience of 25 years of the cotton farmers between the Savannah river and the Pacific ocean. They insist upon losing one year's planting of cotton before making the necessary changes in methods of cultivation. This is, of course, not true of all farmers. Many of the farmers of this state already infested have shown more forethought. South Carolina can take it from Alabama, especially the Black Belt section of Alabama, that this boll weevil "scare," as we fancy some of the planters are calling it, is the real thing. It is one show that lives up to its advertising promises and adds a little for good measure. The boll weevil will eat any living man out of a house and home who discounts him and makes no effort to offset the damage done by the pest.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Let us remain hopeful—George Harvey has not said any thing lately.

Admiral Sims says he does not believe in "talking to excess." Consistency is evidently not one of the character jewels of the old sea fighter.

The apparent remoteness of another war, is doubtless influencing some of the Washington representatives who are opposing disarmament.

Another return to Wilsonianism—the Republic has adopted the waiting and watching policy in regard to Mexico.

NEWS OF MOULTON

AND LAWRENCE COUNTY

MOULTON, June 13.—(Special.)—The Lawrence County Division of the Farmers' Union met Thursday and Friday of last week with the Oak Grove Local two miles south of Caddo in the northeast part of county with T. F. Almon, of Moulton, county president, presiding.

The local surprised the delegates by making Thursday a public day and giving a feast of good things to eat as well as the discussion. W. A. Morris of Birmingham, State Supervisor, was present and gave an excellent address as did C. M. Dinsmore, the State President of the Union and D. C. Jones of Albany.

The Lawrence County Civic Club has a committee hard at work this week getting subscriptions towards the good roads fund. Considering the financial conditions of the county the responses seem fairly generous and it is hoped to have subscriptions sufficiently large to meet the requirements of the state before the end of another week.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"Recent reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford truck to take effect immediately. The list prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

Touring Car	$415.00
Runabout	$370.00
Coupe	$695.00
Sedan	$760.00
Chassis	$345.00
Truck-Chassis	$495.00
Tractor	$625.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4000 car daily schedule for June.

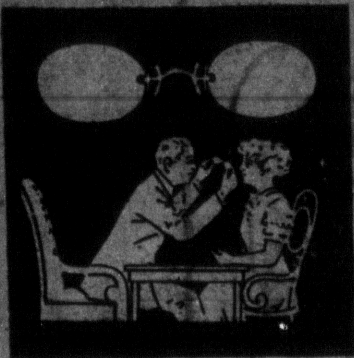

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any future cut in the price of the tractor."

Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or of the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

Wife Waves Hand at Train; Killed

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, June 13.—Mrs. Mary Cravey, 19, was shot and instantly killed by her husband, James Cravey, because she waved her hand at a flagman on a passing train, according to a story told officials by Cravey, who is in the county jail charged with murder.

The couple, who reside in Irondale, quarrelled about 5:30 this morning and the wife defiantly waved at the train, Cravey said. He followed her out of the house and emptied the gun in her back. Death resulted instantly. Neighbors are caring for a 2 year old baby left by the dead woman.

Teeth of Various Creatures.
Rabbits have 28 teeth, and rats and mice 20 each. Sheep and oxen possess the same number as humans. Frogs have no teeth at all on the lower jaw, and toads are quite toothless. The shark has several rows of teeth, the outer ones being replaced as they become worn, at the expense of the inner rows. The pike is provided with what might be called hinged teeth, as they certainly can be turned inward to enable it to hold its prey firmly.

"THE ELECTRIC SHIP"

THE NEW MEXICO was the first battleship constructed in the United States, to be propelled by electricity.

This ship is 624 feet long, weighs 32,000 tons and from the water-line to the top of the mast is as high as a ten-story building.

To drive it 21 knots an hour requires 28,000 horse power. Her oil-burning engines are fed from tanks which carry approximately 1,000,000 gallons of oil. Its nine boilers produce 36,000 horse power of steam energy. This steam turns two turbines which develop 32,000 horse power. These turbines are marvelous savers of fuel and space. Each turbine is connected to an electric generator. Each generator produces 16,000 horse power of electrical energy.

Huge cables carry this current to the control board from which the engineer operates the ship. From this point this power is sent to four giant motors of 7,000 horse power each—one of which is attached to each propeller shaft.

"Let electricity do it" is the motto on the New Mexico. Electricity revolves the gun turrets, moves, loads and fires the guns; raises the anchor, moves the rudder and pushes the ship; lowers the boats, pumps the water, runs the machine and blacksmith shops, heats and lights the boat; operates the interior communicating, fire protection, refrigerating, ventilating and telephone systems and wireless instruments; peels potatoes, washes dishes, bakes the bread dough, washes and irons the clothes in the laundry, sterilizes the instruments in the hospital and does numerous other unlooked-for stunts.

In every sense of the word, the New Mexico is an electric ship.

In October.

October 17 (1835)—Some of the oaks are now a deep brown red; others are changed to a light green, which at a little distance, especially in the sunshine, looks like the green of early spring. In some trees, different masses of the foliage show each of these hues. Some of the walnut trees have a yet more delicate green. Others are of a bright sunny yellow. —Nathaniel Hawthorne, "American Note-Book."

NEWS OF HARTSELLE

HARTSELLE, ALA., June 13.—It is interesting to note that all over this county there has been erected during the last twelve months many fine rural school buildings, and plans are in the making right now for many more during the next twelve months period.

The school buildings at Rural Grove, Natural Bridge, Gum Pond, Ryan's Cross Roads, and many others in various parts of the county emphasize the fact that the people are awake to the need of the public school, and have co-operated with the authorities to make these modern school buildings a possibility.

At Gum Pond in district 54, the school interest lay dormant for a long time, and the only building they had was an old dilapidated one that had been used for school purposes for over twenty years.

Today a new building stands near where the old one stood costing $3,000 well equipped and admirably adapted for pupil and teacher. Where these new buildings have been erected the attendance has increased 100 per cent.

For two years Rural Grove was without a school, they losing their building by fire. They became discouraged. Under the direction of the superintendent of Education they built and equipped a $6,000 building and equipped it. The community has been transformed, and so great is the interest that not a case of non-attendance was reported for the year.

The County Board at its last meeting made the Ryan school a Junior high. They have a teacherage, a dormitory, and teach agriculture, manual training and home economics. They maintain a school for nine months, and are doing great good in a community twenty-five miles from railroad.

Six districts are to hold the three mill tax election in a short time, it is said that all are sure to carry. Among these are Danville, which will vote the tax, add to buildings and establish a Junior High.

Flint is planning a new house and will in all probability build a brick structure.

The County Board has given the County Superintendent leave of absence during the months of July and August that he may attend Peabody Normal College for Special Courses in school supervision.

Except for a few partial showers that have fallen in different sections of this locality, there has been no general rain here in over a month. Crops continue to look good where they have been worked, and were it not for the fact that many have failed to get a stand of cotton, and much of the bottom land remains too hard to plant, conditions would be alright.

Saturday a severe hail storm prevailed in the Barclay bridge neighborhood south of Flint creek, and much damage to growing crops. A torrential rain followed in the wake of the hail, and corn and other crops were actually washed up by the roots. This damage was confined to a small area.

Troop A, 1st Alabama Cavalry attended the burial of Gerard Wright an overseas soldier who was killed in France, which occurred at Decatur Sunday. The troop went in a body through the country on their mounts. A rifle range has been established on the armory grounds and practice is regularly held there.

There has never been such a demand for all varieties of peas for field planting as has occurred here this season. The country has been scouring for miles around in an effort to find them, Whipporwill variety being in greatest demand, but the buyer would take any kind he could find.

An effort is being made to organize a ball team here. This town for many years past has boasted of a good school team, but for some cause the interest has lagged this season. A systematic effort will be made at once to finance a team, and playing will begin right away.

Hotel Men Enjoy a Treat at Coden

CODEN, ALA., June 13.—H. M. Burt, manager of the Lyons House, Decatur, was one of the principal figures in an event here Thursday which rounded out one of the most successful conventions of the Alabama Hotel Men's Association. Members of the association were guests of John E. Rolston of Rolston's Hotel in a trip across Portersville Bay from Coden to Dauphin Island.

The good ship Augustus Kling, stocked with every delicacy yielded by this teeming bay, which is one of the greatest fishing spots in the United States, sailed from the pier before Rolston's at 9:30 o'clock. The hotel men, meeting in Mobile Wednesday, had attended to the business of the convention, and Thursday was the day for relaxation and pleasure, the occasion for which the bonifaces look forward each year as an important incident of their annual gathering.

Oysters still wet with the brine of the beds from which they were dug, shrimp that only a few hours before had cavorted in their native element, crabs to prepare which the hotel staff had worked until the small hours of the morning, and fish "caught while you wait" were served up to the voyagers in an endless round. A plunge in the surf of the Gulf was the climax of the trip, and the delegates returned to Coden at 4 o'clock, sunburned and happy.

Too Many Before Him.
Edward, returning empty handed from the post office, said: "You will have to send me earlier next time, mamma, because when I got there the letters were all gone."

BOYS CLUB WORK SHOWS PROGRESS

AUBURN, ALA., June 13.—(Special)—The reports from the county demonstration agents for the week ending June 4 are full of interesting facts about the steady growth and development of boys club work in Alabama.

From the Tennessee Valley County Agent W. G. Johnston, of Morgan County, tells of a county club rally held at Hartselle and says that to describe it as a "glorious success" is stating it very mildly. Mr. Johnston had the active co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and practically every business and professional man in Hartselle and the results of the day are above described. Among the prominent speakers were Mayor A. P. Towell, County Agent J. T. High, of Florence, R. A. Burleson, and Prof. Hays, County Superintendent of Education.

Reporting from the extreme Southern part of the States G. V. Stelzenmuller of Baldwin County states that boys have already definitely decided to attend the Annual Club Boys Encampment at Auburn July 25-30 and that several others are expected to make the trip.

Looking forward to the improvement of the Sumter County hogs, County Agent R. G. Arnold delivered 40 pigs of the best breeding that could be found to his club boys who are now busy caring for them and getting ready to put them on exhibition at the Sumter County Fair at Livingston this fall. J. W. Sartain of Walker County spent most of the week visiting club members and held club meetings and found that practically all of his club boys have their acres in first class condition.

Three Addresses Delivered Sunday

win, but that laws did not enforce themselves. If the Anti-Saloon league ceased its activities, and no other agency took up its work, it was declared the 18th amendment could be made a dead letter.

"There is no place now, for difference of opinion. The lawless must be made to fear the law, and the majesty of the law must be upheld."

"There should be no use for the dirty foul stuff that makes men mad. Prohibition has the very elements of sanity and the germ of commonsense. Beer worshippers were declared to be stunted morally and unfit mentally and physically.

"America is the only nation," declared the speaker, "that has not gone to its grave drunk. America is the salt that has saved civilization so far, let us go forward and raise the world to the cool clear white lights of sobriety and Christian living."

Why he is for Prohibition.

"When I began to believe in Jesus Christ," said Governor Patterson, in the course of his address from the Central Methodist pulpit, I began to disbelieve in the liquor traffic. Other men have joined the Prohibition ranks for other reasons, but the statement I just made explains my chance. When Governor of Tennessee I said that prohibition as a governmental policy was fundamentally wrong; I have been saying for years just the opposite—that prohibition as a governmental policy is fundamentally and eternally right."

"I believed when I came to my senses, that we should stop fooling and temporizing with the whiskey business and destroy it."

Dr. Sturdivant introduced Governor Patterson as a son of Morgan County, born at Somerville, as one of the greatest men of his day intellectually as an orator and as one who was doing a great work for God and humanity.

The speaker said that as the declaration of independence had to have the armies of Washington to make it effective, as Lincoln's emancipation order, was not carried out until four bloody years of fratricidal war had passed, so the 18th Amendment, must be made all effective by a warfare on liquor as long as there was a "single poison draft drunk or sold or a single dirty bootlegger in existence or a single sign of life about the miserable business."

It was warned that newspapers and speakers who said that more whiskey was being used than ever told the opposite of the truth and the idea that prohibition would hurt business was shown to be false.

"The thought of liquor must become more and more abhorrent, and no place left for it in a Christian civilization."

"Personal Liberty" clubs were denounced. And in this connection the speakers paid his respects to those who were trying for what he called "a redefinition of liquor." He explained that the Supreme court, left it up to Congress to define what the alcoholic content of illegal beverages was and that while the 18th Amendment could never be repealed, that a wrong kind of Congress could put too much alcohol into certain drinks. In such an event the prayers, sacrifices and money spent for prohibition in the past would be lost. It was explained that the 18th amendment was the "child of a Christian civilization, and that the brightest jewel in the crown of the Christian church, was its accomplishments for the destruction of that work of the devil called the liquor traffic."

The winning of the world war was described as of less consequence, than the defeat of the whiskey business. The speaker declared that no accomplishment for humanity save the life and crucifixion of Christ was as great or as outstanding a victory for humanity as the lawing of whiskey, and that this would be found to be doubly true when world wide prohibition prevailed.

Pretty Custom of the Past.
It was the custom of the ancients to bury the young at morning twilight; for, as they strove to give the softest interpretation to death, they imagined that Aurora, who loved the young, had stolen them to her embraces.

Plants Grow Best Transplanted.
Plants do not always select the most congenial habitat, for it has been found that some specimens found growing modestly on the mountain top flourish to a marked extent when transplanted at the sea level.

COTTON MARKET OPENING HIGHER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 13.—The cotton market opened quiet and steady today, unchanged to 5 points higher. Improved labor advices from Great Britain with indications that the trouble in the coal and spinning industries were nearing an end, encouraged a little support from commission houses, in addition to which there was moderate buying for Japanese account and a demand from Wall street. This demand was supplied by the southwest and local traders.

At the end of the first 15 minutes, the list was steady at about 5 points net higher.

Tent Meeting is Largely Attended

The tent meeting now in progress on Grant Street, was largely attended yesterday, the preaching being done by J. Petty Ezell, minister in charge. The Sunday School numbered over 160 present, while the tent was well filled at both the morning and night service. Mr. Ezell's sermons for some time have been based on St. Paul's epistle to the church at Philippi. In his sermon of yesterday morning Mr. Ezell took up the several merits and defects of the Philippi church, as referred to in the second chapter of the epistle to the members of that church.

English and American songs were sung and the mention of prominent Americans and Englishmen brought forth bursts of cheers.

The convention was called to order by T. D. Hunter, of Edinburgh. Albert S. Adams, of Atlanta, Ga., responded to the address of welcome. Other speakers were Estes Snedecor, of Portland, Ore., and Alexander Wilke, of the British Rotary Association.

Several American cities will make a hard fight for the next convention.

Memorial Service Held by Big Four

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, June 13.—A solution to all industrial problems can come only through adoption of the golden rule, declared John R. T. Rives, who presided at the Southern annual memorial services held here Sunday afternoon for the dead members of the Big Four railway brotherhoods.

Dr. R. M. Simpson, pastor of the First Christian church, where the services were held, made an impressive appeal for brotherhood among men. Mrs. Mary Milton, member of two ladies auxiliaries, also addressed the gathering and urged her hearers to build a monument to charity, justice and fidelity, and to look forward to the brotherhood of man.

Predicts Great Demand for Cotton

LIVERPOOL, June 13.—Lord Emmott, in opening the world cotton conference here today, expressed the belief that the serious industrial troubles are nearing their end and that before long Great Britain will be needing millions of bales of cotton every year.

Richard Manning, of South Carolina, in responding to Lord Emmott, said that the task of England and America at the present time is solve problems with the same determination as was shown during the war.
